UPDATE FROM LAWRENCE

TRT PARTS

I hope you have all had a relaxing break to unwind from the very challenging times we all experienced, both personally and professionally, in 2020 (or a break planned if you had not had some time away yet). While challenging, 2020 also proved to be a great opportunity to look forward and challenge our thinking.

We are kicking this year off strongly at TRT, its a busy time in manufacturing and parts, so in this special trailer issue of In Gear, we are giving you an inside look at manufacturing, what our team was able to achieve during 2020 and what we have coming up in 2021.

Our focus on trailers shows the depth of experience and knowledge within the whole team when it comes to trailer parts, fitouts and repairs to the innovative trailer designs that continue to challenge other manufacturers in the industry. These smarts are all right here at TRT. We are very proud to be locally owned and operated.

With large warehouse facilities in Auckland, Hamilton and Christchurch, we have been able to keep up with demand and parts supply to keep customers on the road. As a result, the parts team have put together a range of clearance stock from 2020 (on page 6), with some huge savings to be made.

We have a very strong supply chain and we are still adding new quality products. As a result, there are plenty of parts in stock and we can continue to offer great deals. Remember, as always, if we don't have it, we'll find it for you.

I would like to personally thank you on behalf of the Directors, Bruce and Robert Carden and the Parts teams across the country, for your continued loyalty and support. We could not do this without you all.

Chief Operating Officer,
Lawrence Baker

INSIDE TRT

Trailer Manufacturing Hits Back in 2021

TRT trailer manufacturing started with a strong year in 2020, with large numbers of forward orders. Then, like most in our industry, we were directly impacted by Covid-19.

As lockdowns continued in NZ and Australia, companies delayed investment in equipment. This did not deter the team here at TRT from meeting the challenge head on, creating some of the most innovative trailers, with some very forward-thinking operators during 2020.

Trailers were manufactured equally for both sides of the Tasman. We have continued to grow crane support trailers with solutions for 100-300t cranes. More than 15 left TRT in 2020. Max Cranes also put their new TRT modular platform trailer (4x8 + 4x8+ 2x8 dolly), with the lattice extension, to the test. It is designed to carry the boom of a 1200t Mobile Crane - the largest in the southern hemisphere.

Quad Axle Wideners have also been popular in Australia, including T&C Excavation, JPD Contracting and NZ's Campbell Infrastructure's and JCH Contracting's Deck Widener in Tasmania. We have also completed several HIAB truck crane fit outs.

With 4 years of design and testing, in collaboration with Longveld Engineering, we have manufactured and tested a prototype for a liquid food grade tanker, keep a look out for this on the roads in 2021.

We also continued to advance the manufacturing work with NZ Defence, with more than 30 high spec General Service trailers, used in deployment applications.

The well-publicised Prestige Building Removal's ESS Modular House Trailer system (two units, both with interchangeable axle modules), has been put through its paces. With a number on order for 2021 from other operators, this world-class design looks to be a new must-have in every House Trailer fleet.

Starting in late 2020, we began manufacturing a NZ first - a mammoth, multi-configurable, 12-Line Modular Platform Trailer for Pollock Cranes. This will revolutionise the haulage capability across infrastructure projects. (Keep an eye out for the TRT inside scoop coming soon.)

2021 is shaping up to be a great response to the challenges of 2020. TRT has seen increases in orders and activity. This is especially noticeable from NZ operators who are choosing to invest in quality trailers and equipment, with increasing confidence in the market. Even more important, they are choosing to buy local, with 100% local ownership.
